

TECHNOLOGY TRANSFER

Understanding your needs through experience. MyBiotech provides technology transfer services for your established nanoparticle and microparticle formulations to increase the GMP compliance and efficiency of the production process.

Production method optimization to increase the GMP compliance and efficiency

Scale up of production methods from particle production to end formulation

Establishment of GMP compliant production method for particulate systems

Optimization of existing formulations for a smooth GMP transfer

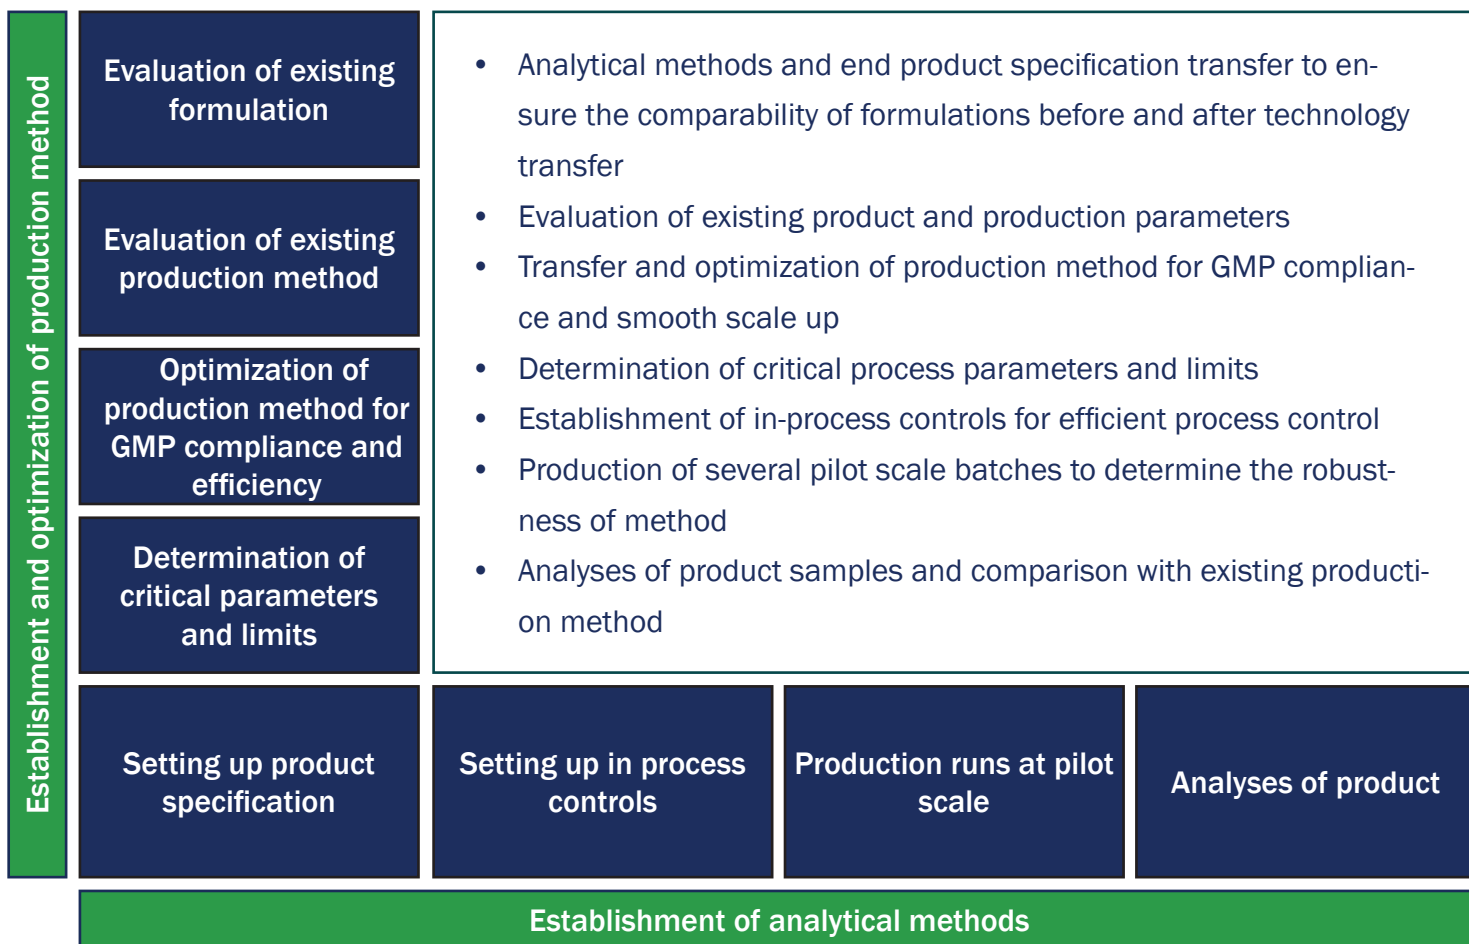

Innovative GMP compliant technologies to meet required product specification

Commercial production

CTM production

GMP
JUST ON TIME

We evaluate your product and process parameters in detail to ensure the comparability of products before and after technology transfer. We supply services at every step of technology transfer starting from lab scale up to commercial scale
